

7 Dec. - 8 Dec. 2023 - South Campus, room 4A-1-15

International Conference at the University of Copenhagen

Rethinking the rural North through environmental literature, film, and TV

Cultural representations have a great potential to archive, reflect, and shape our relation to the environment. The conference examines the multi-layered ways in which today's rural landscapes, troubled by human impact, are portrayed in literature, film and TV, and how human environmental responsibility is negotiated.

Organizer: Department of Nordic Studies and Linguistics
/ Sophie Wenerscheid (UCPH) and Anna Mrozewicz (LU)

Read more

Funding: Centre for Modern European Studies & Carlsberg Foundation

KØBENHAVNS
UNIVERSITET