

Language, Place and Periphery

Program January 18th

8.00 – 9.00	Registration (Conference room 27.0.09)
9.00 – 9.15	Welcome (Plenary room 22.0.11)
9.15 – 10.00	Plenary: David Britain R is for Rural: phonologically constructing the rural Other in Southern England
10.00 – 10.15	Break
	Conference room 27.0.09 Chair: Kristine Køhler Mortensen	Conference room 27.0.17 Chair: Lena Wenner
10.15 – 10.45	Daniel McAuley: Perceptions of urbanity and its social meaning in metropolitan France	Astrid Ravn Skovse: Sense of place, everyday mobility and linguistic variation
10.45 – 11.15	Arne Ziegler & Ann Kathrin Fischer: Vienna and Graz – Cities and their influential force	Ditte Zachariassen: New prosodic features in the periphery of Aarhus
11.15 – 11.45	Britta Schneider: Heterogeneity in a rural place – Planetary urbanization and the role of economic orders in the creation of homogeneity and diversity	Nate Young: Copycats dom shouf Comparing MAT/PAT replications in Danish and Swedish multiethnolects
11.45 – 12.15		Irene Stengs: Performing dialect in front of the world André Rieu and the politics of languageculture
12.15 – 13.15	Lunch
13.15 – 14.00	Plenary: Pia Quist Language and place - Linguistic variation in urban and rural Denmark
14.00 – 14.15	Break
	Conference room 27.0.09 Chair: Malene Monka	Conference room 27.0.17 Chair: Tore Kristiansen
14.15 – 14.45	Lotte Thissen and Leonie Cornips: Language, place, and (un)belonging at a derby soccer match in Maastricht (the Netherlands)	E. Jamieson: Perceptual hyperdialectalism: a case study in Shetland dialect
14.45 – 15.15	Hannah Leach: Making it local: /h/ variation in Stoke-on-Trent's pottery industry	Eileen Coughlan: Differences in language attitudes and practices among teenagers in a peripheral community
15.15 – 15.45	David Karlander: Roads to regimentation: place, authenticity and the metapragmatics of naming	Rikke van Ommeren: Bidialectalism and place(s). On the ideological constraints on bidialectal language practices
15.45 – 16.15	Break
16.15 – 17.00	Plenary: Marie Maegaard Standardization as sociolinguistic change – a comparative study of three traditional dialect areas

18:30 Conference dinner at Il Buco, Njalsgade 19C, 2300 København S

Program January 19th

9.30 – 10.15	Plenary: Emma Moore Language and 'the local': How language indexes identity in an insular community
10.15 – 10.30	Break
	Conference room 27.0.09 Chair: Henrik Hovmark	Conference room 27.0.17 Chair: Frans Gregersen
10.30 – 11.00	Nadine Chariatte: Language practices at the margins of society on the periphery of Cape Town	Stian Hårstad: When 'dialectality' is normality. Preliminaries for an exploration of linguistic behavior in social media in Norway.
11.00 – 11.30	Anna Jespersen: Language, Politics and Place in Northern Ireland: the impact of political stance on intonational variation in Belfast English	Leonie Cornips, Stefania Marzo, Jos Swanenberg: Dialect and Place-making in the Periphery of the Dutch Language Area
11.30 – 12.00	Rosemary Hall: From 'Mid-Atlantic' to 'Bermewjan' – constructing belonging through performance speech in (post)colonial Bermuda	Ingrid Paulsen: How /r/ became American: The interaction of place and social characteristics in the enregisterment of American English in the nineteenth century
12.00 – 13.00	Lunch
	Conference room 27.0.09 Chair: Andreas Candefors Stæhr	Conference room 27.0.17 Chair: Erez Levon
13.00 – 13.30	Lysbeth Jongbloed-Faber: Identity construction through dialect pop: song texts, narratives and social media posts	Sandra Jansen: From an endocentric close to an exocentric open community Sound changes in a West Cumbrian peripheral community
13.30 – 14.00	Benjamin Peter: The Revaluation of Andalusian via Salient Variables	Karen V. Beaman: Identity and place: The changing role of Swabian in modern Germany
14.00 – 14.30	Rhys Sandow: Negotiating local identity through stylised linguistic practice: Performing Cornishness with Anglo-Cornish dialect lexis	Jenny Nilsson, Susanne Nylund Skog and Fredrik Skott: Explaining dialect change in rural Sweden
14.30 – 15.00	Jan-Ola Östman: The role of Wellerisms in construing imagined village communities	Jon Stevenson: Variation in the pronominal ditransitive in British English Twitter messages
15.00 – 15.30	Break
15.30 – 16.15	Plenary: Barbara Johnstone Chronotopes of Dialect Style
16.15 – 16.30	Closing and rounding up	